

Glendale is a dynamic city located in the rapidly growing northwest part of the Phoenix metropolitan area. With a population of more than 250,000 people, Glendale is Arizona's sixth largest city. It is home to a diverse population covering a vast cross-section of economic and cultural communities. Glendale was established in 1892 and has transformed into a vibrant city on the move. Built on farming and irrigation, Glendale's forefathers laid the foundation for a city described as one with "small town character and ambiance." This allowed Glendale to grow and transform into a tourist attraction in the western U.S. Glendale's charm stems from a treasured heritage, strong community spirit and superior planning, making it one of Arizona's most distinctive and diverse communities.

Principal Economic Activities

Glendale's diverse economic base includes advanced business services, aerospace and defense, education, health care, manufacturing and signature entertainment. Major employers including Honeywell, Bechtel, Delta Dental, AAA, Coca-Cola, Conair and Humana call Glendale home. Redflex, Progressive Leasing and Lockheed Martin also have recently joined the ranks of notable employers. Loop 101, Loop 303 and U.S. 60 all cross through Glendale with Interstate 17 and Interstate 10 in proximity.

Northern Parkway, when complete, will further enhance transportation access through the city. Glendale is served by the Burlington Northern Santa Fe railroad and has its own municipal airport. The city is close to Phoenix Sky Harbor International Airport, connecting it to major national and international markets.

Scenic Attractions

Glendale boasts a budding downtown spanning 10 blocks with many shops and award-winning restaurants. Over the past 20 years, the city has invested more than $400 million in infrastructure improvements to create a world-class sports and entertainment district. The NFL's Arizona Cardinals play at the 63,000-seat University of Phoenix Stadium. The 18,000-seat Desert Diamond Arena hosts major headlining events and most recently welcomed Arizona's first professional bull riding team, the Ridge Riders. During Spring Training, the city hosts two Major League Baseball teams, the Los Angeles Dodgers and Chicago White Sox, at Camelback Ranch Glendale. Glendale has become a regional employment center with multiple Class A office buildings and outstanding amenities including Westgate Entertainment District, Tanger Outlets, Cabela's and VAI Resort, Arizona's largest resort property. Glendale is known for Sahuaro Ranch Park, listed on the National Register of Historic Places. Thunderbird Park features more than 1,000 acres of prime desert preserve and is a favorite spot for hiking, horseback riding and picnicking.

Community Facilities

Glendale has a range of community and cultural facilities including an award-winning civic center, aquatics center, adult center, parks, libraries, fishing lakes and several museums within a half-hour drive.
